1. Translate: Customer

I'm looking for a dress.
It's not my size.
This colour doesn't suit me.
I'd like it of modern design.
This dress is too loose.
Is it expensive?
How much is it?
Where do I have to pay?

1. Translate: Shop Assistant

Have a look at this dress.
What colour would you like?
What is your size?
The fitting room is over there.
It perfectly fits you.
The cash desk is over there.
Don't forget to take the receipt.
Shall I wrap it?

2. Answer the Shop Assistant's questions:

-Good morning! Are you being served?
-What are you looking for?
-How do you like this one?
-Have a look at that one.
-You can try it on. The fitting room is over there.
-It fits you perfectly.
-Yes, we have it in blue, but this colour is yours. It suits your eyes.
-It's one hundred and twenty dollars.
-The cash desk is over there. Don't forget to take the receipt, please.
-Shall I wrap it?

3. Play the roles: Customer

You have come to the shop to buy a raincoat.
You'd like:
-a green raincoat;
-of medium length;
-of modern design;
-with pockets;
-with large buttons.
Your size is medium.
Your budget is about two hundred dollars.

Shop Assistant

You're a shop assistant and you serve the customer.
Ask him/her:
-the thing he/she wants to buy;
-the colour of the thing;
-the size;
-the design of the thing;
-the length of the thing;
Tell the customer:
-where the fitting room is;
-where the cash desk is.
